Care and Maintenance of Your Peavey HP Signature™ EXP Guitar

This is a high quality musical instrument constructed from the finest materials with the most advanced production methods. With reasonable care, it should provide many years of service and outstanding playability.

Temperature and humidity - It is important to protect your instrument from any extreme or sudden changes in temperature or humidity. You should store the instrument in its case when not in use. The recommended Peavey Electric Lite case (Item #00444820), features quality nylon exterior fabric, convenient, large zippered accessory pouch and plush, lined styrofoam-formed interior. Includes Peavey luggage tag for easy identification. Fits many standard-size, solid-body guitars.

Strings - For optimum performance, strings should be changed approximately once per month or after every twenty-four hours of playing. Some players prefer to change strings more often. Replace with Peavey Nickel Wound Balanced 9s strings. Nickel winding adds longer sustain, tone and performance for high output and precise intonation.

Finish - Your instrument's finish is both durable and weather resistant, but requires care. Regular cleaning with Peavey Guitar Polish (Item #00063390) is recommended.
